13 July 1945

Subject: Mil Amt D, Its Removal from Reit-im-Winkel and Final Dissolution.

To: OO X-2 Germany

1. Oberleutenant Dr. M. FERID was taken yesterday (12 July) on a bird-dog mission to Reit-im-Winkel.
2. Object of the trip was: to determine final time and place of the dissolution of Mil D, and, if possible, to locate some of its personnel.
3. FERID was let out just South of Reit-im-Winkel on the road from Kitzbühl, Austria. This was done in order to give credence to his cover-story that "after his desertion of Mil. D" (a fact known to the personnel of Mil. D), he went South into Austria; that he was arrested there, and that after superficial interrogation he was discharged by the French (who now control the territory), and was now on his way home to Miesbach; he had to act cautiously because he still lacked American discharge papers; he wanted to know what was the best way of obtaining American discharge papers.
4. He contacted a waitress who was once employed at the Seegatterl Inn (a short distance from the erstwhile Hqs. of Mil D at Winkelmoos, and often visited by members of the Mil D). She directed him to the Stabszahlmeister TODTE now living at Reit-im-Winkel.
5. From TODTE, FERID learned the following:
 - a) On 4 May Mil D billets on top of the mountain (Winkelmoosbitten) were occupied by the SS who intended to defend the territory. Amt D had to pack and leave for EURING (vic Saalfelden, Austria).
 - b) Mil D disbanded at Euring; and it was commonly agreed that all personnel give themselves up to the Americans, state their true names and rank, but either do not mention at all or play down their Intelligence Connection.
 - c) TODTE was discharged after a short interview at Bad Aibling; he came back to Reit-im-Winkel, where he plans on buying and running the local cinema.

- d) LORMIS also obtained discharge papers and was last seen at Bad Elster by TODTE (who went there two days before Russians occupied the territory in order to recover some private property which he could not take along at the time Mil D moved from Bad Elster to Reit-im-Winkel; for this trip he was even provided gasoline by the local American authorities).
 - e) Capt. EISENBERG is reported to be in a PW Camp at Kassel. He presented himself to the American authorities in Bad Elster.
 - f) Another member of Mil D, Major MENGGER, was also taken prisoner at Bad Elster.
 - g) Maj. LOOS is reported to have been seen at Camp Tilsal of the Aibling Discharge Center (probably at Kirchseeon). He is reported to be in good graces of the Americans there and a discharge has been promised him for his cooperation.
 - h) Major NAUMANN, former chief of Abw. II and later of Mil D, a General Staff Officer, actually received his discharge in two days. After his discharge he went to his "emergency home" (Behelfsheim) in the vicinity of Augsburg. He can be located through his wife's family, a well-known Augsburg family by the name of DALLAUB.
 - i) BOLDT, Lt., is reported to be still in Bad Elster, though he did not want to be in the Russian controlled territory.
 - j) Capt. GIEBLER, who was LOOS' handy man, and was in charge of the transport from Reit-im-Winkel to Buring, a "most stubborn Nazi", is thought to be in Stuttgart. As a civilian he was post-office employee.
 - k) ZIERIACK, BITTNER, and women secretaries are reported also discharged in the "regular legal PW channels".
 - l) In Reit-im-Winkel, besides TODTE, live two of Mil D's former secretaries: Frau ZIERIACK (wife of Capt. ZIERIACK), and Frl. WESTERMANN, who was in the service of the OKW for a "very long time".
6. None of the available people (TODTE, Frau ZIERIACK, and Frl. WESTERMANN) were arrested in order to protect our informer, Obi. FERID.

7. FERID's cooperation in this matter was exemplary: he acted as though it was his own personal responsibility to locate these people. He is intelligent and trustworthy. After the trip FERID was brought back to his home in Miesbach (his reward: one K-ration for lunch).
